

Your specific dietary needs depend on your age, sex, height, weight, and physical activity level. Talk to health care provider about what is best for you.

Fruits and Vegetables

Eating fruit and vegetables has many health benefits. Fruits may be fresh, frozen, canned, or dried/dehydrated. Fruits can be eaten whole, cut up, pureed (mashed), or cooked. Vegetables may be raw or cooked and can be fresh, frozen, canned, or dried, and served whole, cut up, or mashed.

Grains

Eating whole grains as part of a healthy diet may reduce the risk of getting heart disease, support healthy digestion, and may help with weight management. Examples include whole-wheat flour, bulgur (cracked wheat), oatmeal, and brown rice.

Protein

Protein foods include all foods made from seafood, poultry, eggs, and also beans, peas, lentils, nuts, seeds, and soy products. Eat a variety of protein foods to get more of the nutrients your body needs. Meat and poultry choices should be lean or low-fat, like 93% lean ground beef, pork loin, and skinless chicken breasts.

Dairy

About 90% of Americans do not get enough dairy and could benefit from getting more fat-free or low-fat dairy. This can come from milk, yogurt, or cheese. It can also come from lactose-free milk and fortified soy milk or yogurt.
